

Finnegan's Farm West, farm manager position. Please let us know if you have any questions.

The farm manager will work closely with the farm owners throughout the growing season to ensure that the farm is meeting operational, financial, and aesthetic expectations. We are looking for an individual to execute daily tasks in an organized, efficient, and timely manner. This role will involve helping with all aspects of the farm. We are willing to be flexible for the right candidate. This is a wonderful position for someone looking to work on an ever evolving, permaculture farm where learning opportunities abound and projects are diverse. The ideal candidate would be eager to contribute ideas and try on a lot of different hats. If you are seeking an opportunity to become a well-rounded farmer, we would like to hear from you!
